

MeredithBromfield.com – Our Commitment to You

---

An unconditional money-back guarantee if you're not completely satisfied with the online counseling services you receive. If Meredith Bromfield, Crossing Your Bridge, LCC © believes that we cannot advise you with your issue then we will recommend that no additional services be purchased and will be happy to reimburse you for future purchases made. We recommend and encourage that services be purchased on an individual basis and at the recommendation of their advisor at the end of their initial contact.

Your privacy is guaranteed; information stays between you and your online advisor. At no time is any information made accessible to third parties. View our Privacy Policy for the details.

Our focus is to provide hope-filled solutions to major life-challenging events.

